

CRIME PREVENTION THROUGH ENVIRONMENTAL DESIGN (CPTED)

4-Day Course: Seeking Expressions of Interest

The Australian Federal Police, in conjunction with the PIA ACT Division Social Planning Chapter, is seeking expressions of interest for a 4-day training course in Crime Prevention Through Environmental Design (CPTED). Of relevance to planners, architects, landscape architects and other built environment professionals, the proposed course will help consultants, consent authorities and others to identify and limit opportunities for crime in planning, design and development. Course content includes:

- Criminology & crime prevention
- Core principles of CPTED
- Identifying crime risk in architectural plans and drawings
- Lighting, fear & crime
- Crime risk management & CPTED applications
- Councils, planning & design safety

Dates (may be subject to change):

17—20 August 2009

Cost: $660 per person

Venue: Australian Federal Police College,
Barton, ACT

Expressions of Interest should be emailed to PIA ACT Division Manager, Fiona Gratton, at act@planning.org.au or by telephone, 6175 2108, by

COB 27 May 2009.

The course facilitators from the NSW Police are experienced practitioners with backgrounds in environmental criminology, architecture, risk management, community-based prevention and lighting design (engineering).
