HORTICULTURE SITE A TRIUMPH AT ROYAL MELBOURNE SHOW!

The Horticulture site at the Royal Melbourne Show looked fantastic and thanks to everyone's support, hard work and energy, the site opened to high acclaim and great enthusiasm. Premier Steve Bracks and Agriculture Minister Bob Cameron were there to raise a glass of sparkling to toast Victoria's horticulture industry for its positive contribution to the show and for working together as a collective group. The Interactive Children's Garden was a huge hit from the start, fast attracting a long line of budding gardeners keen to get their hands dirty and adopt a tree. Plenty of "Learn, Grow, Live" brochures which included the AILA web site were handed out to passers by, with the messages further reinforced by volunteers staffing the display. Thank you to the AILA members who volunteered their time.

Do you have a Question for John Denton, Victorian Government Architect??

If AILA members or practices have questions or professional issues they would like raised through AILA at the forthcoming BDP Victorian Regional Committee, Forum with John Denton, please email them to the our Victorian President, Darren Atkinson at presidentvic@aila.org.au by COB Monday 16 October. This is a unique opportunity for AILA to speak with the Victorian Government Architect at a private forum.

AILA FRESH REPORT

The Fresh event held at Loop on the 27th of September was a success with a crowd of about one hundred enjoying the atmosphere, free drinks and interesting presentations from Mick Morrison of the City of Maribyrnong, Victoria Smith from Convic Design and Cassandra Chilton from Hassell. The response to the night was very exciting and the next Fresh is already being organised. Glenn Hay.
