Independent Venue Review Team

Att: Graham Quirk

Sent via email: venuereviewfeedback@dasilgp.qld.gov.au

Dear Mr Quirk,

RE: Submission to Review of the Brisbane 2032 Olympic and Paralympic venue Master Plan

The professional associations representing Queensland Architects, Landscape Architects, Planners, and Designers are calling for governments to ensure collaborative city-shaping and community-focused legacy is central to future decision-making for the Brisbane 2032 Olympics and Paralympic Games.

Our four public interest professions have partnered to prepare a joint advocacy position, Green Pathways Gold Places, as we want to ensure good design and long-term planning are at the centre of decisions around legacy and games infrastructure.

The enclosed document is a confidential draft, scheduled to be released publicly in mid-2024. Over the past 3 months, we have been meeting with key stakeholders to present our advocacy position. With the review team tasked with an important remit, we therefore offer to present to you for your consideration.

Together we are calling for an ambitious legacy, infrastructure and venues agenda that unlocks much-needed community and city benefits from the 2032 Games, bringing forward strategic investments needed to cater for our growing and changing population.

We make a combined offer to work closely with governments, industry, and community to ensure design and planning expertise is leveraged to deliver collaborative city-shaping legacy that can be celebrated for years to come.

The Australian Institute of Architects, Australian Institute of Landscape Architects, Planning Institute of Australia, and Design Institute of Australia represent more than 25,000 professional architects, landscape architects, planners, and designers nationally, who are ready to contribute to making Brisbane 2032 a success, well beyond 10 years after the Games.

We look forward to the opportunity to present this joint position. To arrange a time, please contact Nicole Bennetts, State Manager Planning Institute of Australia on 0420 241 163 or Nicole.bennetts@planning.org.au

About the Institutes:

The Australian Institute of Architects (AIA) represent over 14500 members nationally and internationally, committed to raising design standards and positively shaping the places where we live, work and meet. Along with our members, we are dedicated to improving our built environment and the communities we call home by promoting quality, responsible, sustainable design and advocating on behalf of the profession for the benefit of all Australians.

The Australian Institute of Landscape Architecture (AILA) is the peak national body for Landscape Architecture. AILA champions quality design for public open spaces, stronger communities, and greater environmental stewardship. With our members, we anticipate and develop a leading position on issues of concern in the industry.

The Planning Institute of Australia (PIA) is the peak professional body representing town planners across Australia. PIA currently represents more than 5,500 members nationally and connects with more than 10,000 planners annually through events and advocacy. PIA's mission is to champion the role of good planning in shaping Australia's future.

The Design Institute of Australia (DIA), as Australia's peak industry body for professional designers, represents Australian design and designers both domestically and internationally. The DIA enables Australian designers by providing knowledge, thought leadership, access and inclusivity. The DIA advocates for designer issues and lead stakeholder initiatives that leverage designers' voices and elevate their contributions.
